What is the Women Thriving Fearlessly™ Collaborative?

The W.T.F. [Women Thriving Fearlessly™] Collaborative is a book project designed to help you offer your expertise to women so it will inspire them to improve their personal and professional lives. Each co-author will write a single chapter that will be included in the book. Its sole purpose is to move readers into action to begin the process of making extraordinary life changes.

What happens during the project?

You will be guided through a process that will allow you to present your best possible chapter. Erika will host live webinars to assist you in organizing your thoughts. Remember, you're only writing a single chapter, not an entire book, so this is a sufficient method to complete the project.

What happens after the program is complete?

After the program is complete, your chapter will be edited and revised with your approval. The finalized chapter will then be placed in the book. Once the book has been assembled and published, there will be a book signing held in your honor.

What information am I allowed to place in the book?

Other than your chapter, there will be an information page that's all about YOU. You may have your photograph, bio, and contact information on this page.

What if I don't want my contact information included?

That's perfectly okay. However, your photograph is required in at least 300dpi.

Do I have to be in Chicago to be part of this?

No, you may be part of the group from anywhere in the world. You will be invited to join the live webinars to participate alongside the other co-authors.

How do I become a co-author?

There is a two phase application process – First, an initial application must be completed. Then selected applicants will be invited to join the collaborative as a co-author and given more details regarding the log in credentials for the live webinar. This happens after the investment has been secured.

Who should apply?

Ideal authors are those who have solid, solutions-based advice for the readers. Also, those who can commit to viewing the webinar (live or recorded) and serve as an advisory to your fellow co-authors are model candidates.

In addition, those who are willing to do the work, offer suggestions and ideas to their co-authors within our private Facebook Group, and who are seriously ready to finally become a published author are encouraged to apply.

Successful candidates/participants are individuals:

- With a high level of commitment to the process, and able to prioritize to accommodate them.
- Who are able and willing to take feedback devised for creating your best work
- Who are willing to be vulnerable in your writing
- Who are able to be open with the group about their challenges (if any)
- Who are generous with ideas and can see the co-authors as allies, not competitors
- Who can honor their financial investment

Where will the book signings be held?

They're held in the Chicagoland area.

When does the program start?

Women Thriving Fearlessly™ in Business starts Thursday, October 19th 2017 at 7:30pm CST. The book launch for this book is on Saturday, February 24th 2018. Women Thriving Fearlessly™ - for Mothers will begin on Thursday, November 16th 2017 at 7:30pm CST. The book launch will be held on Saturday, May 26th 2018.

What happens in the meantime before the program starts?

After signing up for the program, you will gain 24 hour access to an online book writing bootcamp given by Erika Gilchrist to jumpstart your writing. A private link will be sent to you following the completion of signup. You will also be granted discounted access to any public events hosted by Erika Gilchrist prior to the start of the program.

Do I receive anything after completing the program?

Yes! There's an official book launch of the collaborative book in the Chicagoland area where you can invite your friends, family, and supporters to honor your accomplishment.

Can I write more than one chapter?

No, each co-author is limited to just one chapter.

Can I participate in more than one collaborative book?

Yes!

Can I sell the book for profit?

Yes! As a co-author, you can purchase the book at a 50% discount to sell at retail cost.

Do I own the rights to my work?

Absolutely! This is your intellectual property, and you are simply giving permission for it to be published in a collaborative book. This means you may use the chapter in an upcoming book of your own should you choose to write one.

Can I use the book to market my own business?

Yes! You may use the book as a marketing tool if you wish. It can also serve as a fundraiser.

Are men able to participate in the program?

Erika Gilchrist is available to work with men to create a collaborative book with a club, group, or organization of men who are already established.

What if I want to do something like this for my organization?
